

Confidentiality agreement with restrictions on audio and visual recordings

To protect our patients, you are under an obligation of confidentiality. This means that you must sign that you cannot say or write anything, take pictures, share, or make recordings of patients in any way that could lead to the patient being recognized. You are also under an obligation of confidentiality regarding all information you become aware of that could be damaging to the business's reputation and/or competitive situation if it becomes known.

Necessary photography and filming on the hospital premises must be cleared in advance with your contact person at the hospital. This also applies to audio recordings, in addition to video and photo.

The obligation of confidentiality also applies after the assignment is completed. Violation of confidentiality may result in criminal liability.
