

Seminar and webinar
EDS and connective tissue disorders

April 25, 2017

Place:
Forskningsbygget (Glassbygget)
Radiumhospitalet, Oslo

Clinicians and researchers from USA and Norway will participate and give lectures

Specially invited guest:

Peter H. Byers,
Professor of Pathology and Medicine (Medical Genetics) and Director of the Collagen Diagnostic Laboratory and Center for Precision Diagnostics, University of Washington, Seattle, a leading scientist on connective tissue disorders

- 08.30-09.00 Registration, biscuits, coffee/tea
- 09.00-09.10 Welcome
Nina Riise, TRS Resource Centre for Rare Disorders, Norway
- 09.10-10.00 Results from the Norwegian gene panel for connective tissue disorders
Benedicte Paus, OUS, Norway
- 10.00-10.20 Break: Fruit, coffee/tea
- 10.20-10.45 Current patient topics of interest.
Line Blålid, Manager of the EDS Association, Norway
- 10.45-11.15 Experience with patients with joint hypermobility in a physiatrist clinic
Fredrik Walter Smith, OUS, Norway
- 11.15-11.30 Panel discussion
All speakers
- 11.30-12.30 Lunch
- 12.30-13.30 Ehlers-Danlos syndrome, update on classification, clinical findings and natural history
Peter H. Byers, University of Washington, Seattle, Washington, USA
- 13.30-14.00 Discussion
- 14.00-14.20 Break: Fruit, biscuits, coffee/tea
- 14.20-15.20 Aneurysms – genetic approaches to causation and natural history
Peter H. Byers, University of Washington, Seattle, Washington, USA
- 15.20-15.35 Information about the new Connective Tissue Clinic
Odd Geiran, OUS, Norway
- 15.35-15.50 Case presentation
Nina Riise, TRS National Resource Centre for Rare disorders, Norway
- 15.50-16.05 Panel discussion: Where do we go from here?
All speakers
- 16.05-16.15 Closing remarks

Changes to the program may occur